WASHINGTON NEWS.

The Plot Thickens—The Milk in the Cocoanut—Hard Swearing—The House Standing Committees.

From the Courier-Journal.]

WASHINGTON, March 15, 1869.

THE PLOT THICKENS.

There is a demoralization to-day in the political situation. The President failed to send to the Senate the promised list of appointments which disappointed the ravenous office seekers. The Speaker appointed the standing committees, which created almost unprecedented growling among the Radical members of the House, and finally the Republican Senators met in caucus and voted to turn out Congressional Printer Defrees, Sergeant-at-arms Brown, and the executive clerk of the Senate, all well tried and good Republicans. These events have produced more excited talk to-day among the Radical politicians than would at first be imagined.

THE MILK IN THE COCOANUT.

The delay on the part of the President in filling the offices is said to be owing to the news which he received of the contemplated action of the Senate on the civil tenure law, the Judiciary Committee of that body having agreed to report in favor of its suspension. The Senatorial caucus, however, caused the greatest surprise. It was generally believed that it would change the Sergeant-at-arms of the Senate, but no one outside of the conclave knew of the intention to strike down Defrees, who is the special friend and champion of the Vice-President. This latter move, it appears, was the result of a coalition made by Senator Morton, the bitter political enemy of Colfax and Defrees, with the carpet-baggers to elect A. M. Clapp, of the Buffalo Express, as Congressional printer, and at the same time trade off votes enough to the carpet-baggers to elect one of their own number, an ex-member of the House named French, from North Carolina, as Sergeant-at-arms. Morton has worked up this game for a long time.

HARD SWEARING.

It is almost needless to say that the old Republican Senators and members are very wrathy at this unexpected insult, and are swearing all kinds of vengeance. These caucus nominations are to be elected on Monday next, and party dictum will carry them through.

HOUSE STANDING COMMITTEES.

Speaker Blaine announced his standing committees to-day, and it proved to be the most unsatisfactory list ever submitted to the House. Of course, no matter how constructed, there would be much complaint, but in this instance it is quite universal. New England gets nine chairmanships, and yet Ben. Butler was loud in his denunciation that he had been placed at the head of a select, and not a standing committee, and was insulted, he says, because he was placed on the Judiciary with Bingham, of Ohio, whom he detests. Orth, of Indiana, could not hold in his spite, and got up and resigned from the Ways and Means Committee, to which he had been transferred from Foreign Affairs. The Democrats are treated with great injustice. Although they have sixty members, they do not get as fair a show as when the number was less, under Colfax. Brooks, of New York, and Judge Marshall, of Illinois, are on the Ways and Means, and Kerr and Eldridge on the Judiciary. The new Democratic members are put to the tail end of unimportant committees. The Speaker also makes some queer freaks. For instance, he takes Trimble, of Kentucky, from the Pacific Railroad Committee, and puts on Roots, of Arkansas, a carpet-bagger, who used to be a laborer on Trimble's railroad in Kentucky. The Election Committee is most unfairly organized—Randall, one of the two Democrats on it, having no knowledge of law. There are twenty contested cases to be decided. Beck, of Kentucky, a valuable member, is retained on the Reconstruction Committee, notwithstanding the efforts of Kentucky Radicals to keep him off. There are three Democrats on this committee, to two before. Butler has called a meeting of this committee for to-morrow.

THE LATE JAMES GUTHRIE.

Funeral Obsequies and Ceremonies.

From the Louisville Courier Journal.]

Funeral services were held at the residence of deceased, Rev. Dr. Humphrey, of College street Presbyterian church, and Rev. Dr. A. T. Spalding, of Walnut street, Baptist church officiating. The services began by the singing of the hymn commencing "I would not live alway," after which prayer was offered.

Dr. Spalding then spoke as follows:

When the last decade of the last century had begun the life of James Guthrie began. He was born in 1792. We have now entered upon the nineteenth year beyond the middle of another century. And now here lie the remains of our friend and brother and father. Death has done his work. Death, that comes with equal step to all, paused not even here. Greatness of mind, magnanimity of soul, versatility of mental power, broad philanthrophy, herculean energy, chilk-like gentleness, services of unmeasured usefulness, rendered a city, a commonwealth, a nation—all these availed not to stay the hand of death.

The yearning sympathies, the earnest prayers, the deep anguish of stricken daughters, were alike powerless to prolong his life. In the seventy-seventh year of his life, like a shock of corn fully ripe, the Hon. James Guthrie has been gathered into the garner of the grave.

We come to-day, in the providence of that God who has permitted us to survive him, to bear him to his burial. Bodies corporate, fraternities, fellow-citizens, neighbors, friends, kinsmen—all alike partakers of the weight of this great sorrow—we come to bear him to his last resting place. Once more God speaks to us—"Whatever life may be, however long, however earnest, however great or good—thou too shalt die!" Not in the life of some other, but through the life and through the death of this great man God speaks to us. Through the bold heroism of active life on the great flood of western waters; through the early aspirings of genius in the legal profession; through the steady growth of intellectual and moral power; through true devotion to right in civil things in strict integrity in national trusts; through the unbending toil of brain, and hand, and heart, whereby a city has been built and a great commonwealth increased in glory; and then through the relaxing of physical power, the decadence of the mental energies and the gentle decline into death. Through each and all of these God says to us, "Dust thou art, and unto dust shalt thou return. Now thou art in the midst of active life, thou too shalt die." Yes; behind you are the sweet mementoes of the past, all around you the rich enjoyments of the present, and before you the opening vista of future hopes, but be admonished! Beyond them all there is another day. It awaits your coming. It is the day of your dying, of your uncovered coffin, and of your unfilled grave.

Now, God, your gracious God, your loving Father—longing for you his wandering child to come back to him, yearning to embrace you with his kiss of love, cries out to you—"Oh that men were wise, that they would know this, that they would consider their latter end." Heed to-day the entreaties of your God. "Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near."

The services were then closed by a prayer from Rev. Dr. Humphrey, and the singing of "Come ye disconsolate."

The remains of Mr. Guthrie were then taken charge of by the Masonic fraternity, who deposited it in the grave with the usual honors.

Among the corporate bodies and societies and organizations that paid tribute to the eminent statesman we read in the Louisville papers of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, the Elizabetown and Paducah Railroad, Jeffersonville, Madison and Indianapolis Railroad, Louisville Bridge Company, Louisville and Portland Canal Company, the University of Louisville, the City Court, the Savings Bank of Louisville, the Louisville Cement Company.

MISCELLANEOUS READING.

A Beadle Very Properly Wiped Out.

A singular event recently happened at St. George's Church, Antwerp. The beadle there has the custom of preceding the principal persons of the parish in order to make way for them. A decently dressed woman whom he wished to move aside, refused, saying: "I am in the House of God, where all are equal. If the ladies wish to pass, let them go round." The functionary, little habituated to such observations, took her by the arm and tried to force a passage; but she raised her hand and gave him such a slap in the face as no dignitary of the kind had perhaps ever received before. He was so thunder-struck at the attack that he never thought of persisting.

The President pro tem. of the Senate.

Mr. Henry B. Anthony, of Rhode Island, who has been elected to the honorary office of President pro tem., of the Senate, has represented Rhode Island in the Senate Chamber since the year 1859, having been re-elected in 1865 for the term ending in 1871. He was elected Governor of Rhode Island in 1849, and re-elected in 1850. Senator Anthony was a member of the National Committee appointed to accompany the remains of President Lincoln to Illinois, in 1865, and was one of the Senators appointed to represent the Senate at the funeral of Gen Scott in 1866. He was a delegate to the "Loyalist Convention" in Philadelphia during the same year. He has been a working member of the Senate, having served several years as Chairman of the Printing Committee, and as a member of the Committees on Claims, Naval Affairs, Mines and Postoffices. He is a graduate of Brown University (1833), and is now fifty-five years old.

Greeley Upon Rebel Spite.

A correspondent describing the scenes at the inauguration ball paints Greeley thus: Descending the stairs I encountered Mr. Horace Greeley. He was sitting on a step, and looked as dismal as Marius amid the ruins of the Carthage Hotel.

"What is the matter, Mr. Greeley?" I inquired.

"I have lost my hat in that cursed room of idiots."

"Not your old white hat?"

"Yes, my old white hat, and with it my overcoat. It is lamentable that the rebels did not take this d—n town and burn it to ashes. They showed their spite by not doing so. It is an infernal sink hole of iniquity, depending for its miserable existence on the government."

I left the venerable philosopher lamenting. What an extraordinary fact it was that he lost his old white hat. I had an idea, in common with the pensive public, that it could not be lost. I believed he could not sell it if he were to try. He could not give it or throw it away, and here it was lost in a cloak room.

Queen Emma at Home.

A correspondent of the San Francisco Bulletin writes from Honolulu concerning Queen Emma, whose visit to the United States will be remembered: I saw and recognized the once beautiful and still fine looking Queen of Kamehameha III. I saw her first at her summer residence in Nuuanu Valley. She reclined upon mats and pillows in the Oriental style. A broad verandah made a most refreshing shade, and as she offered us a dish of edible bark (a little like slippery elm, but very tender), or some fruits, her grace and dignity were singularly pleasing. She seemed some pastoral goddess born to rule her fawnlike subjects with love and gentleness, and indeed she is such. Her only coronet was of wild flowers, which are very generally worn here by both sexes, and most becomingly so. Chains of flowers and berries hung about her neck also, giving out an agreeable odor. There was no formality observed, even by her workmen, whom she was overseeing in person. Her gardener came at her call, and, sitting on the step of the verandah, laughed and argued with her as freely as possible; yet no one could feel inclined to presume upon such modest action.

Greeley on "Legs."

The philosopher of the Tribune, who is a "man of taste" in such matters, and ought to know, says of "legs:" "How can it be any pleasure to a man of taste to see a crooked legged, scrawny and grinning creature bobbing about most uncertainly, pretending to do what was so beautifully done by Elsler, Taglioni or Cerito, not at every step, for she can take no step, but at every hop and shamble? For some reason real beauty is not common upon the stage—perhaps it is not very common anywhere; but it rather enhances the ugliness of the corps de ballet that it assumes the air of the most superb and ravishing loveliness. We mark the abbreviated habiliments, and mildly whispering "Wherefore?" to our neighbor, we go out without calling for "a cheek." It would have been so much pleasanter if the "lady" who has been emulating a pair of tongs, had been just a little longer-kirtled! Once for all, it should be remembered that this unpleasant scantiness of raiments has nothing to with the veritable Terpsichorean grace. There could be nothing finer than Mlle. Fanny Eisler's Minuet de la Cour, which she danced in a dress with a train five yards long, while the mingled dignity and vivacity of her performance were worth more than all the graceful gymnastics of all her other exhibitions. Immodesty is the peculiar vice of the modern school of dancing. The Italian performers in London, in the last century, would have been shocked if asked to appear in the stage-dresses of their calling now in vogue. In collections of theatrical prints, we find the "ladies" of that period very prettily and rather modestly clothed."

Victoria's Daily Round of Official Duties.

A correspodent of the Boston Journal, speaking of Queen Victoria, says: As a sovereign, she is the hardest-worked woman in England. Her official duties commence at seven o'clock in the morning, one hour before breakfast. Wherever she is, dispatches are sent daily in by messengers, who ride in first class cars, bearing what are called baskets. The papers from all the departments are submitted to her. These baskets are dark morocco boxes about one foot in length. These are sent from Downing street, the Admiralty, the Home Department, the Head of the Army, etc. Each basket is locked by the Minister who sends it. A card hanging from the inside contains the name of the Minister. Every train to Windsor, Balmoral, and Osborne carries messengers with these boxes. The Queen and the Minister alone can unlock them. All these documents have to be read by her, for she signs nothing which she does not read. Every bill, act, treaty, document, petition, or paper requiring her name is submitted to her personal attention. Her majesty is admitted to be one of the best business women in the kingdom. Each day's business is finished before the day closes. Usually, the messenger waits and takes the basket, locked by her Majesty, back to the Minister from whom it came. The Queen holds a ready pen and carries on her personal correspondence, which is very large. She pays her own postage like any lady in the land. She has always given personal attention to her children, and their religious training has been the object of much solicitude and care. Her favorite pastime at Balmoral is among the poor, the lowly, and the sick, with whom she talks, reads, prays, and leaves medicines, food, money, and little tokens of her regard.

Extraordinary Trial for Murder and Arson.

An extraordinary trial for murder and arson has just been concluded at Nancy, France. The accused, a young man of nineteen, named Jeanson, was a pupil at the school for young men intended for the priesthood, kept by Pont-a-Mousson. He appears, however, to have been little qualified for a religious life. In May last he was detected introducing a copy of Aristophanes into the establishment, and, fearing expulsion, determined to mark his departure by a signal act of vengeance. Getting up at night, he collected a heap of books in the schoolroom and set fire to them, and while the pile was burning he broke open the desks of the other pupils to take whatever money or valuables they contained, and then wrote on the walls such inscriptions as "Down with the Priests!" "How sweet is vengeance!" "I am beginning what others will complete!" Jeanson appears to have been much attached to another youth named Jouatte, and on reflecting that after the unpardonable act he had just committed he could not escape expulsion, he resolved to murder his friend rather than be separated from him. He accordingly went back to the dormitory, and there in cold blood cut the throat of the other lad. The defense put forward was insanity, although no acts of the previous life of the accused were of a nature to justify the supposition, although the evidence showed that his conversations with his school-fellows were often blasphemous and revolting. He was condemned to twenty years' hard labor.

TRAGEDY AT SEA.

Three Hundred Lives Lost by a Powder Explosion.

Vienna (February 22) Correspondence of the London Morning Post.]

The first news of this catastrophe was received here by the naval section of the War Ministry by a telegram from the commander of the island and fortress of Lissa, in which it was stated that the optic telegraph stationed at Fort Wellington had signaled the information that, at a distance of about ten miles to the northeast of the island, an Austrian frigate was blown up. The commander of the island instantly telegraphed to the vessels stationed at Trieste and Zara, and to the commander of the squadron at Gravosa, to proceed at once to the scene of the accident; and the ironclad frigate Ferdinand Max, as well as the gunboat Hum and the steamer Andreas Hofer, were immediately dispatched to Lissa with orders to render any assistance that was necessary and possible under the circumstances.

A deputation of the corporation of Lissa also set out to the place where the accident had occurred, and on their return yesterday they telegraphed that of the whole crew and marines on board, numbering in all 364 men, besides the Captain, only twenty-three had been able to save themselves by swimming.

The Radetzky was under sail, on a cruise for gun practice, and had no steam up, so that the accident could not have been caused by the explosion of the boiler or a cylinder.

According to the meager authentic reports which have reached the War Office and the newspapers, wet catridges were being dried in the powder-room. The ammunition had been unpacked, and quantities of powder were lying about on the floor, and the workmen were consequently commanded to enter the room only in felt slippers. They, however, came in with their boots on, without putting felt slippers over them. The powder coming in contact with the hard soles of the boots, ignited from the friction caused hereby, and a terrific explosion sent vessel and 340 men to destruction.

A telegram from the commander at Lissa to the naval section of the War Office, dated yesterday evening, gives the following additional details: The explosion took place in the powder-room abaft while the metal was being cleaned. Cadet Barth was near the foremast when the explosion took place, by which he was hurled into the sea. Quartermaster Kraus reported that he was in the corridor superintending the process of cleaning. After 10 o'clock he laid himself down in the corridor near the foremast. He was roused from his sleep by a violent shock and the cry of "Fire!" He rushed to the hatchway, but the steps were blown away, and he had to creep into the battery, when he saw the destruction of the hind part of the ship, which was on the point of sinking. The water was rushing in from all sides, and he had just time to throw himself into the sea through the port hole. Kraus is of opinion that Quartermaster Doger, by incautiously striking a light, had caused the explosion in the powder-room, where the ammunition had been unpacked and cartridges spread out to dry.

AGRICULTURE.

Monthly Report of the Department.

The monthly report of the Department of Agriculture for February shows that horses have increased slightly in most of the Western and Southern States, but very little in the Middle and Eastern States—not enough to keep pace with the increase of population in the Atlantic and seaboard States. Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, and the Pacific coast States, exhibit the largest increase. That the numbers are not equal to the demand, is shown by a general though small advance in prices. The increase of mules is also slow, in comparison with the rapid aggregation of population, and the range of prices appears to be higher than last year. Returns of oxen and other cattle point to a positive decrease in New Jersey, Maryland, North Carolina, Florida, Texas, Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. There is a diminution amounting to five per cent. in the latter State. In milch cows a reduction is reported in Texas, Ohio and Illinois, in some of the Southern States. A general increase in the prices of cattle is reported. A reduction in the number of sheep appears to be general, the only exceptions being Rhode Island, Tennessee, Minnesota, Kansas, and the Pacific States. The loss can not be much less than ten per cent. Prices of sheep have declined slightly in certain sections and advanced in others. In districts where merino stock monopolizes sheepwalks the decline is general, and, in some sections heavy. Returns of swine corroborate those of last fall, showing greatly lessened numbers of fattening hogs, and mark a very decided reduction, amounting to fifteen per cent. In a large portion of the Ohio Valley prices are largely increased, in many States twenty-five or thirty per cent., and not unfrequently fifty or sixty per cent. An inspection of the tables will show a marked advance, the result not only of a reduction in numbers, but of a speculation naturally caused by such a state of facts.

—The Troy Whig says St. Peter's Church, in that city, is the only Catholic church in that State, if not in the United States, completely out of debt.

—Christian Work, an English monthly periodical, is devoted to the general missionary news of all societies in all parts of the world.

—The Boston Theater was completely filled at the last religious service in eight minutes after the doors were opened.

—For "talking back" to a minister during service, an Iowa man has had to pay ten dollars fine.

STATE NEWS.

Miscellaneous.

—"Bristol, Tenn., has a Magistrate who can neither read nor write. His judgment may be very sound, nevertheless." So says the Press and Times of Nashville. We suppose the "Magistrate" is a negro of course.

—Certain property-holders and speculators at Edgefield Junction are preparing to lay off a town there. Being near to Nashville, the place possesses rare advantages.

—The Knoxville Press and Herald says that the measles has become epidemic among the children of Knoxville. We hear of numberless cases, and we understand that the contagion is of a dangerous type, and in several instances has proved fatal.

—The Press and Times of Sunday says there is a genuine sensation around here now, in the shape of a report that a gigantic frog has been discovered in Maury county, which weighs, according to Fairbanks' balance, ninety-three pounds exactly. The general impression is that this huge and hideous animal will develop into a snake in a week or two. He has already devoured the reporter of the Columbia Herald.

The Peach Prospect.

We were gratified to hear a number of our country friends, with whom we conversed yesterday, express the opinion that the peach prospect was not materially injured by the late frosty spells. One gentleman, who devotes considerable attention to fruit growing, says that enough buds yet remain in healthy condition to insure a fair average yield, provided they meet with no bad luck between this and the first of April.

Immigration Item.

The McMinnville Enterprise of yesterday says: Immigrants are continually arriving at this point, and our streets and churches (one at least) exhibit quite a change in our population. Among others, a number of Swiss settlers have arrived for the Swiss settlement, near Bersheba Springs. Present indications are that the present season will add largely to our force of Northern immigrants in this county.

An Unfortunate Step.

The Nashville Banner says: Yesterday afternoon, while Mr. Byrom, checking clerk at the Louisville and Nashville Railroad depot, was engaged in checking a lot of freight which was received, he stepped through an ugly hole in the platform and so sprained his right ankle that he had to be carried to his residence. Fortunately there were no bones broken. The accident, though a crippling one, probably will not detain him from his post of duty many days.

Fruit Crop in Montgomery County.

The Clarksville Chronicle of Saturday says: "We have conversed with gentlemen from different portions of the county, and their statements concerning the fruit crop differ. Some state that in certain neighborhoods it is killed outright, whilst in others it is injured but slightly. About one-half of the crop of last season was killed, which proved to be a blessing, as at first there was a superabundant budding, and enough was left to insure a large yield of well matured fruit. Hope it may again be the case this year."

A Woman Burned to Death in Blount County.

The Maryville Republican of the 13th inst. says:

Last Sabbath night, on Crooked Creek, in this county, a heart-rending accident occurred. About ten o'clock the house of Mrs. Miriam Hooker was discovered to be on fire. The neighbors repaired to the conflagration, but not in time to rescue the unfortunate woman, who, it seems, was unconscious of the fire, and fell a victim to the devouring flames. After the fire had subsided it was ascertained that she was entirely consumed, nothing being visible but the charred and blackened bones. We have no further particulars.

Cheap Fare to Immigrants.

The programme laid down at the convention at Atlanta, on the 4th of January, has been successfully carried out. Those who wish to visit the South, or to remove to it, can obtain tickets at two cents per mile at the following points:

G. M. Huntington, 229 Broadway, New York.
C. E. Evans, 187 Greenwich street, New York.
J. J. Clyde, Harrisburg, Penn.
J. F. Scull, Panhandle route, Pittsburg
F. R. Miles, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad, Pittsburg.
J. A. Birch, Buffalo and Erie Railroad, Buffalo, N. Y.

HERMANN BOKUM, Commissioner.

A Negro Killed—The Murderer Arrested.

The Knoxville Press and Herald says: About twelve o'clock last Saturday night, after being released from work, a number of the employees working at the different mines near Coal Creek, went up to a saloon at the railroad station, where they drank considerable liquor. They remained at the saloon till an early hour on Sunday morning, when several of them started for their homes. Two white men of the party became engaged in a dispute. A negro named Maloney took the part of one of the white men named Gardner. When opposite their boarding house, Maloney went in and got his pistol. Seeing him coming out, another negro named White attempted to dissuade Maloney from taking sides with either of the white men, when Maloney raised his pistol and shot White, killing him instantly. Maloney was immediately arrested and tried before 'Squire Chapman, at Coal Creek, and on hearing the evidence the 'Squire sent him to the jail at Clinton to await his trial at the next term of the Circuit Court for Anderson county.

Shooting Affray at Pulaski.

On Tuesday evening last, says the Pulaski Citizen, a difficulty arose at the grocery store of Mr. Malone, between that gentleman and a negro named Learner Marks, in which shots were interchanged. Marks was drunk, and had been lounging upon Mr. M.'s counter for several hours; the latter becoming tired of his presence asked him to leave, and at one time led him out of the house and seated him on a box. The negro came back almost immediately and resumed his position on the counter, when Mr. M. again repeated his request and attempted to lead him out. The negro resisted, and Mr. M. forced him out at the door, when the negro drew his pistol. Here the evidence is not positive as to who fired first, but it is plain that the negro made the first attempt to shoot, and in all probability did fire the first shot. The negro received one shot in the hand and another in the arm. Mr. Malone was not touched. Both parties were immediately arrested and tried before Justice Abernathy. Malone was discharged and the negro bound over, and in default of $500 bail, sent to jail.

"Ku-Klux" in Humphreys County.

The Nashville Banner of Sunday is responsible for the following:

Scarcely a day elapses that we do not have new developments of the horrible criminality of Ku-Kluxism. Only a few days ago a "carpet-bag" preacher was detected and exposed at Murfreesboro, in an attempt, for private gain, to use the pen of the Grand Cyclops to compass his wicked aims. We now have a case from Humphreys county, a little more startling. A person by the name of Skinner, who was during the war a trusted detective in this part of the State for the Federal authorities, sometime since took it into his head that he would like to run the Bureau business and also that of Registration, which dove-tail together very nicely. To effect this worthy ambition, he wrote in the name of the Grand Cyclops to the agent of the Freedmen's Bureau, and to the Commissioner of Registration in Humphreys, warning them of great danger from the Ku Klux Klan, and advising them, as a friend, to leave the State without delay for safety. These officials, however, were not to be caught with chaff, but went to work to detect the friendly Ku-Klux, whom they found in the person of Skinner, the Federal detective. Under the law of the State, in relation to the Klan, they presented the matter to the Grand Jury of the county, who promptly returned a bill of indictment against the officious Skinner, which is now pending in the courts of Humphreys.

Skinner has not been arrested, for the reason that he is in Washington soliciting office from Gen. Grant on the ground of his valuable services in detecting disloyalty in Tennessee during the war. Perhaps Gen. Cooper would do well to send a squad of militia after him.

THE KILLING OF WALLACE.

The Causes Leading to his Cowardly Murder.

From the Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle, 13th.]

Yesterday morning, Mr. Charles Wallace, the well known editor of the Warrenton Clipper, was shot dead. It seems that Mr. Wallace had sent in an application to become a Mason to the Lodge in that place and was rejected, two black balls being cast against him. Mr. Wallace was informed that the only man who voted against him was a notorious scalawag and political enemy, a Dr. Darden, and that he must have dropped two black balls instead of one into the ballot-box, and, to make the matter worse, just before the meeting Darden promised a friend of Mr. Wallace, though they were political enemies, that he would take no part against him in the election. Naturally smarting under the injury done him, Mr. Wallace, in the next Wednesday's issue of his paper, published an article commenting very severely on Darden's treacherous course, and denouncing him as a liar and a villain. As soon as the article appeared, Darden, it seems, stung by the exposure of his treachery, and, no doubt, wishing to revenge himself for the numerous and severe blows which Mr. Wallace, an ardent Democrat, had so often dealt through the columns of the Clipper on the scalawags of Warren county, planned his death. On Friday morning last, soon after breakfast, he is said to have ensconced himself at a window in the second story of a house overlooking the public square, and armed with a rifle, awaited from this, his place of concealment, the approach of his enemy. He had not long to wait. The office of the Clipper was situated on the same square, and after awhile its editor made his appearance on the street. Suspecting no danger and unprepared for its encounter, he walked briskly down the thoroughfare, little thinking that not many yards in front of him lurked the assassin who sought his life. A few steps further and the concealed craven sees that the time has arrived when he may take his revenge without risking his carcass; the rifle is brought to a steady rest, the eye of the hunter darts a quick glance through the "sights" of the weapon to his human prey; another step, and there is heard the sharp crack of the rifle, a tiny cloud of smoke is seen to float lazily up toward heaven from the window, and Charles Wallace, pierced in a vital spot by the ball, gives a convulsive spring in the air, and falls dead in the street, killed by the hand of a brutal and cowardly assassin.

Mr. Wallace was quite a young man, but, we believe, leaves a wife and two or three children. He was born in Virginia, but has been living in Warrenton for several years, and was highly esteemed on account of his many noble qualities. He served faithfully and creditably in the Confederate army during the war, and had the reputation of being a man of great personal courage. His paper has been intensely Southern in sentiment and was unsparing in its abuse of scalawags and carpet-baggers, which has caused its editor to be greatly hated by those two classes.

CENTRAL ASIA.

The Steady Progress of Russian Arms.

From the Philadelphia Age.]

The steady progress of Russian arms and influence in Central Asia has at last aroused the attention of English statesmen, and they are pointing out the danger which menaces the British East India possessions from this quarter. Nor are these apprehensions idle or groundless. Khokan has been, for some time past, all but absorbed into the Russian Empire; the Khanate of Khiva sees, with apparent tranquility, the same fate drawing near; and the cession of the famous City of Samarcund and its territory has reduced the Emir of Bokhara, a potentate connected with a tragical episode in Anglo Indian history, to the condition of a Russian viceroy, and Russian citizens are beginning, according to their own boast, to feel themselves at last at home in Turkestan. The Jaxartes and Lake Aral have long had their flotillas of steam gunboats. The Oxus and Caspian are about to have them. Armed conquest preceded as the pioneer; but now commerce, which has been gradually though somewhat intermittently increasing since 1850, has made a great stride onwards, and promises to consolidate the gains of war. The Emir has opened Bokhara to Russian merchants, whose goods are admitted by the last treaty at as low an ad valorem duty as those of Mohammedans, and they are beginning to take advantage of their new liberties. While this condition of affairs in Asia is recognized by the English press, the British Ambassador at St. Petersburg has addressed the Russian government relative to its advance in the direction of India. This is evidently intended to draw the Russian fire, and ascertain, if possible, the real purpose of Russia in extending her arms and arts in Central Asia. Of course the Czar is too cunning a statesman and diplomatist to show the real condition of his hand. But he is a Russian, and cannot and will not forget the part England played in the Crimean affair. After entering into an agreement with Russia that the power and influence of Napoleon and France should be curbed, "perfidious Albion" joined hands with her hereditary enemy, marched troops to Sevastopol, and aided in the termination of that memorable struggle. From that moment dates the commencement of Russian movements of a decided anti-British character in Central Asia. The Czar means to keep the British occupied in guarding their possessions and interests in that remote region, in order to prevent a duplication of the Crimean association, in case the Eastern question should light the torch of war in Southern Europe. By such a movement two points can be covered. Russia may realize her dream of a foothold on the Mediterranean, and at the same time confine England to a small portion of that vast country, which is just waking from long centuries of deathlike slumber. The game is a bold one on the part of the Czar, but he may succeed. Thus far he has not lost a single trick.

MEMPHIS APPEAL.

THURSDAY MORNING, MARCH 18, 1869

SAVED AGAIN.

By the prompt intervention of Mr. WOLCOTT, Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, the stock in the Little Rock Railroad, the property of the city, was yesterday, for the third time, saved from the clutches of the ring. It will be remembered by the readers of the APPEAL that on the 15th of last month Mr. SIMPSON, one of the creditors of the city, agreed to withhold his claim for what was due him, and release, for thirty days, the stock in the Little Rock Railroad owned by the city, and seized in his behalf by order of the United States District Court. The time thus granted, the Finance Committee agreed, should be occupied in a faithful endeavor by them to raise the amount (some $12,000) upon the bonds authorized by the people to be used as collateral, consenting also at the same time that in the event of failure they would interpose no objections to the sale of the stock to satisfy the claim. The committee did not then, nor did the citizens generally apprehend any opposition to the only feasible plan that presented itself for the relief of the city, and the satisfaction of a claim long due. But they were doomed to disappointment. The few who desire that Memphis shall be governed and controlled for their benefit, laboring, perhaps unwittingly, in the interest of their friends who desire to possess themselves of and monopolize the railway system of Memphis, interposed an injunction from the Chancery Court and put a stop to the negotiations that promised immediate relief for the poor and needy workmen of the city, payment of the city's creditors and release of her property from the limbo in which it had lain so long. It was known to this select few that every other means of raising money had been exhausted, and that only by the use of bonds as collateral could the crisis in the financial affairs of the city be relieved. It was also known to them that unless the amount claimed by Mr. SIMPSON was promptly paid on Tuesday, the stock, for which not a few pretended friends of Memphis hungered, would in all probability pass into hands that would forever manipulate it for selfish purposes, and, if necessary to that end, against the interests of Memphis. Yet they persevered in their injunction. Appeals to their sense of the needs of the poor workingmen, to their interest, in common with all others, in the good faith of the city, to their interest in preserving to the city some control in the management of a corporation at no distant day to be one of the most gigantic in the country, all failed to move them. What they wanted to accomplish they could not well explain, but they had the money and the property to offer as security and were willing for a little while to play at law, no matter whether the poor man, who had worked for months for the city on faithful promises, had bread or whether the property of the city they profess to be anxious to save was sold for a song. Fortunately, at the last moment, Mr. WOLCOTT was able to frustrate these designs of the "ring" upon the Little Rock Railroad stock, and with the aid of Mr. DAVIS, of the First National Bank liquidate the claim of Mr. SIMPSON. This being done on Mr. WOLCOTT's personal note, the stock is fully redeemed from all entanglement in law; forever to remain so, let us hope. Meanwhile, the injunction stands; the poor men in the city's employ are unpaid, the streets are in an unusually filthy condition, the repairs and labor necessary at this season to put our roadways and alleys in trim for the hot days of summer, are suspended; and, generally, the wheels of the city government are clogged, and all that a few wealthy men may indulge themselves by playing "Citizens' Union" and testing the extent to which the law will humor them in an attempt to decry the credit of Memphis for ulterior purposes. This is the simple story of a wrong, the greatest that has been brought to the public attention in weeks, and one that we consider discreditable to all who have lent themselves to it.

THE DEBATE IN THE ARKANSAS LEGISLATURE.

By special dispatches from Little Rock, we learn that the fight between the ultras and moderates of the Arkansas Legislature waxes warm. PRICE, who is Speaker of the House, is menaced with expulsion, because that, in his paper, the Republican, he threatened to expose the designs and motives of the members who desired to prevent the subsidy of the Little Rock Railroad. If they succeed in punishing him for the performance of his duty as a journalist, these legislators will find their victory a barren one, for the Railroad Commissioners have already granted all the aid our road stands in need of, and PRICE will then most certainly visit the rascals with the exposure he thinks they merit.

A HAVANA dispatch states that the revolutionary GEN. JUAN CAPOTE LEBIZ has been captured and shot. Several advance guards of the insurgent army had also been taken prisoners and "dispatched with knives!" Such acts of atrocity on the part of the Spanish authorities will tend to increase ten-fold the horrors of the rebellion, and may ultimately bring down upon themselves a terrible retribution. They certainly call for intervention.

THE Nashville Banner of Tuesday says: The last argument in the Tennessee Franchise case, of Ridley vs. Sherbrooke, was delivered yesterday before the Supreme Court of the United States, by Judge BLACK. The preceding brief, by Judge CARUTHERS, on the question of the jurisdiction of the Court, in this case, was able, exhaustive and convincing.

GRANT'S POLICY.

So far as President GRANT has developed his policy, the country has little to encourage a belief in his wisdom or his justice. Wherever the opportunity has offered, he has rewarded the enemies of his predecessor, and vindictively visited the men, especially those of the army, who in any degree rendered JOHNSON or the Democratic party a service. He has exiled GEN. HANCOCK, one of the most dignified, brave and generous soldiers, to Dacotah, and, by the terms of an order published yesterday, has stripped GEN. GRANGER of command and a regiment. The first was a prominent candidate of the Democratic party for the Presidency, and the latter was the tried and trusty friend of Mr. JOHNSON, a persevering worker for Democratic ascendancy, and President of the Soldiers and Sailors' Convention, which met at the same time and labored so efficiently with the Democratic National Convention to harmonize conflicting elements and secure success. In this consists their offense. A truly great man would have shown himself superior to any but a remembrance of their valor, and their skill, energy and prowess in behalf of a cause the success of which made it possible for GRANT to be President. But magnanimity is not to be looked for in the man who would so far pander to the spirit of WENDELL PHILLIPS, as to send commanders to the South whose names "mean vengeance" rather than "let us have peace," and whose every act and utterance commits him to a policy the opposite of that our industrious, dignified and law-abiding people deserve.

GOOD COUNSEL.

Mr. PENDLETON, in a conversation with the editor of the Montgomery (Ala.) Mail, who is at present in Cincinnati on his way to the North, adverting to the future of the country and what should be the policy of the people of Alabama at this juncture, offers the following wholesome and good advice:

Do not stickle upon questions of policy. Your people need to stand united, and you should not permit mere questions of policy to divide you. Of course I, who am sitting here in my office in Ohio, with all my rights of person and property guarded by a white State government, cannot presume to advise you whose condition is so different, but let me beg you to remember what I have said about making no pledge to the negro race. In the past few years, incredulous as you may be, the people have been arousing themselves against the oppressions of the Republican party, and in a few years, if not sooner, will assert the manhood of the white race. By patiently biding your time you will rise on the wave of success; but if you complicate questions by making imprudent pledges through despair or impatience, you strengthen the enemy and postpone the hour of deliverance.

SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE IMPEACHED.

A Stormy Debate and High Old Times Generally.

River—Steamers—Weather.

Special Dispatch to Memphis Appeal.]

LITTLE ROCK, March 17.—A resolution was introduced into the House today deposing Speaker John G. Price upon various charges specified in the preamble. An angry and excited discussion followed its reading, which was participated in by Lieut.-Gov. Johnson and the President of the Senate, who was directly charged with being the author of the bill, and who spoke by permission of the House. Personalities were freely indulged in by the members, and a stormy time generally prevailed. The House, however, adjourned without taking any action upon the resolutions.

The river is falling rapidly. Arrived—Steamer Leni Leoti, from Memphis. No departures.

The weather is clear and pleasant.

NASHVILLE.

NASHVILLE, March 17.—The great mass of our Irish population joined, today, in the celebration of the anniversary of St. Patrick's death. After High Mass at the Roman Catholic Cathedral, an address was delivered by Bishop Feehan, and subsequently the Fenians marched in procession, and to-night are enjoying a ball at the courthouse. The St. Joseph's Total Abstinence Society are having a ball at the Academy buildings. Altogether the display excelled any similar celebration held in Nashville.

NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS, March 17.—Dispatches from Jefferson, Texas, say that the people of northeastern Texas have declared for A. J. Hamilton, for Governor, and W. B. Gray for Lieutenant Governor. The Jefferson Jimplecute, a conservative paper, hoists the ticket, and claims it to have the support of the leading men of all parties.

The Governor has signed the school bill, providing for mixed schools, and to-day appointed the commissioners provided for in the bill. Among them are two negroes, one of whom was formerly Chaplain in the State Senate.

The $900,000 worth of bonds pledged for loans have been placed upon the market, the Governor having signed the bill passed by the Legislature recently providing for their sale.

ST. LOUIS.

ST. LOUIS, 17.—George A. Allen, charged with robbing Mr. Cross, Adams' Express delivery messenger of $7000, some months ago, was tried in the Criminal Court to-day, and sentenced to twelve years in the penitentiary.

A den of counterfeiters, about four miles from this city, was discovered yesterday, and some $15,000, in bogus city treasury warrants, and a lot of fifty cent fractional currency, tools, purses, etc., found. A woman living at the place was arrested, but no man has as yet been caught.

FOREIGN.

BERLIN, March 17.—A bill has passed Parliament securing freedom of speech in all the districts of Germany.

MADRID, March 17.—Gen. Prim announced to the Cortes, yesterday, that the Monarchists were prepared with their candidate for the throne, and that his name would be announced soon.

LONDON, March 17.—The eight-oared boat race between the Oxford and Cambridge Universities to-day, was won by the former by four lengths.

LOUISVILLEE.

LOUISVILLE, March 17.—St. Patrick's day was generally observed throughout the East and West.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The hotels are crowded with office seekers, and the arrival of every railroad train increases the number. The public departments and lobbies of the Capitol are alive with them, and the members of Congress are continually being called from their seats by those seeking positions. Both Senators and Representatives are overwhelmed with letters from all parts of the country on the same business, and it is impossible to give prompt responses.

Additional efforts are being made to secure the appointment of E. D. Bassitt, a negro, who is principal of a school in Philadelphia, as Minister to Hayti. He is endorsed by the National Committee of Colored Men, and by Fred. Douglass, Downing Langston, and many others, white and black.

The Joint Commission of the British and American Governments, to settle the Hudson's Bay and Puget Sound difficulties, will meet in New York to-morrow. There will be present for the British Government Hon. John Rose, and for the United States, Hon. Alex. S. Johnson; Hon. B. R. Curtis, as umpire. Counsel for the United States, Caleb Cushing; for the British Government, Hon. Chas. D. Day, of Canada. The counsel will be heard orally to-morrow on testimony and briefs already submitted. The united claims of both countries are $600,000. The treaty of 1856, negotiated by President Buchanan and Lord Packinham stipulates for the protection of the rights of those companies during the continuance of the license granted by the British Government, and it is now sought to found upon that license a claim to the territory so occupied, which the United States resists.

A naval general order issued to-day, calls the attention of officers to the regulations of the navy forbidding applications for duty through persons of influence. All such applications are to be made direct to the Secretary of the Navy.

Among the visitors at the Executive Mansion to-day was the House Military Committee, headed by Chairman Logan, who called to be introduced to the President.

The usual order about visitors was observed. Those received were mainly Senators and Representatives, who were present in large force.

The President sent several nominations to the Senate to-day. It is said they are of an important character, but the seal is not yet broken.

Gen. Schofield leaves for his new command to-morrow.

The Senate confirmed only two unimportant nominations.

The President sent in the nomination of Elizabeth Van Lew as postmistress at Richmond, Va.

The following was received too late at Louisville night before last to be forwarded in time for our yesterday morning's issue:

HEADQUARTERS OF THE ARMY,
WASHINGTON, March 16.}

General Order No. 18.

By direction of the President the following changes are made of Military Divisions and Department Commanders:

First—Lieut. Gen. P. H. Sheridan is assigned to command of the Military Department of the Missouri.

Second—Maj. Gen. H. W. Halleck is assigned to the Military Division of the South, to be composed of the Departments of the South, the Fourth Military District, and the States composing the present Department of the Cumberland; Headquarters at Louisville. Maj.-Gen. Halleck will proceed to his new command as soon as relieved by Maj.-Gen. Thomas.

Third—Maj.-Gen. George H. Thomas is appointed to the command of the Military Division of the Pacific.

Fourth—Maj.-Gen. Schofield is assigned to the command of the Department of Missouri. The State of Illinois and the post of Fort Smith are transferred to this Department.

Fifth—Maj.-Gen. O. O. Howard is assigned to the command of the Department of Louisiana; until his arrival, the senior officer, Brevet Maj.-Gen. J. A. Mower, will command, according to his brevet rank.

Sixth—The Department of Washington will be discontinued and merged in the Department of the East. The records will be sent to the Adjutant-General of the Army.

Seventh—The First Military District will be added to the Military Division of the Atlantic.

Eighth—As soon as Maj.-Gen. Thomas is ready to relinquish command of the Department of the Cumberland, the Department will be discontinued and the States comprising it will be added to other departments. The records will be forwarded to the Adjutant General of the Army. By command of Gen. Sherman.

E. D. TOWNSEND, A. A. G.

WEATHER AND RIVERS.

CINCINNATI, March 17.—The river is falling.

Departed—Minneola, for Memphis, and Alice Dean, for New Orleans.

ST. LOUIS, March 17.—The weather is clear.

There is a good stage of water to Cairo, but navigation above is difficult.

The Mollie Able arrived and the City of Cairo and W. R Arthur departed.

LOUISVILLE, March 17.—The Mary Houston and John Kilgour arrived.

NEW ORLEANS, March 17.—The Dexter arrived from Louisville and the Thompson Dean departed for St. Louis.

CAIRO, March 17.—The weather is clear and pleasant.

The river rose four inches to-day.

Up—G. A. Thompson, City of Alton and Leonidas. Down—Alaska, 5 p.m; Belle Vernon, 7 p.m.; Great Republic, 10 a.m; Forsyth, 4 p.m.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, March 17.—A Washington dispatch says several impartial nominations have been agreed upon in the Cabinet meetings, but it is now positively asserted that the President will make no further important nominations until the Tenure of Office matter is disposed of by the Senate.

It is stated that Miss Valew, who "rendered the State some service" as a Union spy for Gen. Grant, in the Potomac Army, is to receive an appointment as Postmistress at Richmond, Va.

Commodore Owens has been ordered to San Francisco to take command of the gunboat Cyone.

Havana telegrams from the City of Mexico of March 8th, received by a steamer from Vera Cruz, state that the rebel General Negrette has not been heard of since his flight.

Porto Rico advices mention the arrest of several young men for expressing sentiments favorable to the Cuban revolution, and that the garrisons are being changed on account of disaffection. Much excitement prevails.

The courts in Potosi have conceded protection to Governor Bustament.

A church in Seacalis was struck by lightning on the 5th instant, and destroyed. Two hundred persons were buried in the ruins.

Anneliano Raxera was killed in a duel with Gov. Garca.

Chanez has been assassinated by his companions.

Cespeda, the Governor of Yucatan, died at Merida.

The reported appointment of a Minister to Washington proves untrue.

Navre, the Mexican Consul, at New York, will act as one of the Commissioners under treaty with us.

FORTRESS MONROE.

FORTRESS MONROE, March 17.—John Thomas was murdered at Big Bethel on Saturday by three unknown negroes, whom he surprised while robbing his premises.

BOSTON.

BOSTON, March 17.—O'Baldwin, the Irish Giant, was arrested to day for riotous conduct.

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—A memorial from certain citizens of Texas, protesting against the organization of the State Government, and suggesting that the State be divided into several States or Territories, was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

The bill to enforce the 14th Amendment in Georgia, with an amendment, was reported from the Judiciary Committee. The same committee reported back the names of Joshua Hill and H. W. Miller, claiming to be Senators from Georgia, with a recommendation that they lie on the table until action is taken on the joint resolution relative to Georgia. Several bills were introduced.

The bill relating to the Freedmen's Bureau was referred to the Committee on Military Affairs. It provides for continuing the educational and collection departments until June 1, 1871.

The bill providing a mode for the settlement of certain claims was referred to the Judiciary Committee. It provides for the appointment of two additional Judges for the Court of Claims, whereupon the Chief-Justice of said Court shall designate any three of the Judges, who shall constitute a Chamber of Indian Claims, to adjudicate claims against the United States by the Cherokees, Creek, Seminole, Choctaw and Chickasaw tribes growing out of any treaty or stipulation made with them by the Government.

The bill granting lands in aid of the New Orleans, Mobile and Chattanooga Railroad was referred to the Committee on Public Lands. Also the bill granting lands in Florida to aid in rebuilding the Pensacola and Louisville Railroad.

The joint resolution prescribing the mode of procedure by State Legislatures to ratify the Constitutional amendments was introduced and laid on the table.

A resolution was adopted requesting of the President copies of the correspondence between Buchanan and Cass, as to the policy to pursue to arrest the then impending rebellion.

The joint resolution allowing the New Foundland Telegraph Company to land their cables on American soil, was then taken up, and the amendment applying the bill to all other companies, was discussed until the expiration of the morning hour, when the bill repealing the tenure of office act was taken up, and Edmonds again argued against it; but without disposing of the bill the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.

The resolution extending the time for taking testimony in contested elections, was adopted.

The Indian appropriation bill was made the special order for to-morrow.

The joint resolution supplying the omission in the enrollment of some of the general appropriation bills of last session, was reported. One of them requires bonded warehouse owners to reimburse the Government for the salaries of storekeepers.

The joint resolution was then passed—yeas 100, nays 43.

Mr. Roots introduced a bill to provide levees to secure the low lands of Arkansas and Missouri from inundation, and to secure the settlement and cultivation thereof. Referred to the Committee on Roads and Canals.

On motion of Mr. Paine the Senate's joint resolution respecting the Provisional Governments in Virginia and Texas was taken from the Speaker's table and referred to the Reconstruction Committee, and then the House adjourned.

NEW ADVERTISM'ENTS

THE MISSISSIPPI VALLEY

NAVIGATION COMPANY

— OF THE —

SOUTH AND WEST.

To the Owners of Real Estate in Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama and Arkansas:

THE COMPANY KNOWN TO THE PUBlic as the "Mississippi Valley Navigation Company of the South and West," is organized under a charter from the State of Louisiana. This charter authorizes a capital stock of five hundred thousand dollars, with the privilege of extension to one million. That the public may know the exact object of the Company, the third article of the charter is given entire, as follows:

"The object of this Company is to construct or otherwise to procure and maintain one or more steamboats, or other vessels, to run on and navigate the Mississippi river, or its tributaries, for the purpose of carrying freight, mails and passengers; to construct docks, wharves, buildings and such other constructions as may be necessary to the building and repairing of vessels, and generally to exercise such incidental powers and privileges as are hereby or may be conferred on them for the purposes aforesaid."

The Company propose, under the provisions of this charter to construct a line of steamers to run between the different ports on the Mississippi river and its tributaries. They will be constructed upon the low-pressure principle; they will carry less steam; they will make better time, and be in all respects more safe than any description of boats ever placed upon our waters. Divided into distinct compartments, if disaster, whether by fire or snags, shall happen to one, the boat is not endangered. In case of fire, apparatus for turning steam upon it will be provided, and it is demonstrated that steam is the most effective extinguisher of fire. In case one compartment is broken through by contact with snags, and fills with water, the others are not endangered, and the boat cannot sink as pumps, provided for such an emergency, will be in instant operation. Safety to passengers and freight is a great end, worthy of the struggle of the people of the Mississippi Valley.

Nearly three hundred thousand dollars in money and work has already been subscribed to the capital stock of the Company. The Louisiana Legislature has passed a bill subscribing one hundred thousand dollars of stock to the Company. An additional sum of that amount will, without a doubt, be subscribed by the same body. The Company have resolved to take lands for stock, and this is the feature to which they desire to call the attention of owners of real estate. In the Southern States, on account of the disorganized condition of labor, lands are an incumbrance. Vast tracts that yield no revenue to the proprietors, pay exorbitant taxes, and thus cripple their only productive resources. This Company propose to take these lands at a fair valuation and issue to the owners their stock in lieu. If lands shall enhance in value, so will the stock enhance in value, and thus the land proprietor will carry in his pocket the equivalent of his lands, to be converted into money or property without delay. The success of this great enterprise is beyond question. The stockholder, in addition to the benefit of the enhanced value of his lands, will be part owner of a line of boats, and be entitled to dividends in their earnings.

Persons wishing to exchange lands for the stock of the Company will send to the Agent at Memphis a description of them, their productive qualities, the timber, bottom or upland; whether overflowed or not; if overflowed, what proportion; how near to county-town, to railroad, depot, river, and all facts necessary to afford the Company a satisfactory idea of the land. This may be done by certificates of reliable, disinterested persons residing in the neighborhood. The present actual value of the land may be proved in the same manner. The party offering lands must state in his proposition the lowest figures he will take. The Company will not give exorbitant prices. The titles must be unencumbered by judgments, mortgages, deeds of trust, tax titles, or otherwise. This may be shown by official certificates of judges, clerks, sheriffs, or the opinions of respectable attorneys. This is believed to be the best opportunity to dispose of surplus lands in the South and West that has yet been or can be offered.

Many of the best and wealthiest citizens of the South and West are warmly embarked in the enterprise. The General Headquarters of the Company are in New Orleans, but agencies exist in all the principal cities. The enterprise has been endorsed by Underwriters, Chambers of Commerce, Engineers, Mechanics, practical navigators, and all classes of practical men.

The foregoing facts are submitted to the public in the confident belief that they will be understood and appreciated.

CRIMINAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Supposed Suicide.

Matters still remain in abeyance in this singular case. We were mistaken in saying that it was an Italian who died under the circumstances detailed by us. The party's name was Nathan Smith, and the case bids fair to be one of extraordinary interest. Some months ago an Italian of this city died, leaving a young wife—an American woman, and considerable property. The decedent had no children, and his whole property went to his widow; leaving "out in the cold" his own blood relations. The widow being, good looking, young and wealthy, naturally enough, attracted admirers, and as soon after the husband's death as decency allowed, married again, this time to an American—Mr. Smith. They were a fine looking couple—both the picture of health, and looked like they did not know what sickness meant. Not long ago both were taken sick, and though everything that medical skill could suggest was done for them, they gradually sank and grew worse—each betraying symptoms of slow poison. On Tuesday morning Mr. Smith died—leaving his wife hanging on the verge of the grave. The coroner was summoned, and though made conversant with the facts, was unable to ascertain the cause of death by chemical analysis. We explained the reason why in a short paragraph yesterday morning. The wife meanwhile is also at the point of death, and is not expected to live but a short time. This is one of the cases where the knowledge of the chemist should be brought in requisition to aid the law in ferreting out a dark and terrible crime, but the laborer is worthy of his hire, and as long as the County Commissioners are permitted to pay only twenty dollars for an analysis worth two hundred and fifty, no chemist will be found to undertake the work.

We await further developments with interest.

"M. Combs, Jr." Again.

Plummer Morris, a negro corporal of the 55th U. S. colored troops, (who invariably fought nobly), fought, bled and died for his country, and in return, not long ago, applied to the Government for a little douceur in the way of bounty and pay, to the amount of some $250. This claim was put in the hands of Messrs. M. Combs, Jr., & Co., who sent it on. Some time has since elapsed, and a few days ago Corporal Plummer found that his friends, M. Combs, Jr., & Co., had not been "toting fair." He accordingly had "M." arrested, and carried before 'Squire Griffith yesterday, who dismissed the case. It was carried before the Grand Jury, and will be acted on to-day.

Malicious Shooting.

T. P. Harsey is charged, on the docket of the Second district, with three charges—shooting in corporate limits, attempt to assassinate and drunk and disorderly. At four o'clock yesterday evening his attorney put in an appearance for him, and the case was continued until this evening. It appears, from the police statement, that Mr. Harsey was arrested on charge of "keeping open on Sunday," and bore a spite toward the officers making the arrest, so, on Tuesday afternoon, as officers Wands and Beatty were passing the house of Mrs. Loftus, Harsey came to the door and fired at them. The case will be examined to-day.

A Pitiful Case.

Last evening, as Commissioner Richards reached the case of Annie Sands, on the docket, the police brought out an elderly and very decent-looking woman, who was to answer to the charge of "drunk and down." The poor woman explained that she had been to see some friends the previous evening and had drank a glass of wine. She sat down on a door-step to let the effects wear off, when she was arrested and was carried to the stationhouse. The Commissioner released her immediately.

Miscellaneous.

—Nearly two years ago a watch was stolen from Mr. A. Lorenzi, and after a fruitless search at the time, it was given up as lost. A few days ago an officer of the Second District, seeing a darkey having a watch which looked altogether too fine for the wearer, gobbled him. On examination, the watch proved to be Mr. Lorenzi's, and the negro Mat Arnold, by name, sent before 'Squire Black, to answer to the charge of robbery. He was sent to the Criminal Court under $2000 bond, in default of which he was sent to jail.

—There were thirteen arrests in the First, and seven in the Second District, up to 6 o'clock p. m., yesterday.

—Alfred Long, a "colored gentleman," stole a shotgun from a man named Boletrino, who lives four miles out of town. He was carried before 'Squire Black, who sent him up to answer to the Circuit Court, in default of $2000 bail.

—John Dixon and Henry Williams, charged with stealing $600 in currency and clothes, from one Andrews, on Causey street, on Tuesday night, were carried before 'Squire Griffith yesterday and the case continued.

—Eugene McAuliff, the county scrip stealing darkey, was carried before 'Squire Griffith yesterday, and the hearing of his case postponed until to-morrow.

—John Haley and Frank Adams were sent to the Municipal Court, in default of $1000 bail each, on charge of stealing a jar of tobacco.

ST. PATRICK.

HOW HIS DAY WAS CELEBRATED.

High Mass at St. Patrick's Church.

The Sodality Band Out in Force.

The Evening Services at St. Peters, Etc., Etc.

Never before in the history of Memphis has the day of the patron and tutelary saint of Ireland and Irishmen been so appropriately and magnificently celebrated as it was yesterday. All of the societies composed of Irishmen or their descendants in our midst, and every individual native of the Green Isle seemed to vie with each other to see who could do the most honor to the name and memory of the saint and man whose name is synonymous with all that is good, great, brave and noble, in the history of the fathers of the church.

The Hibernian (or Irish Literary) Society and the Sodality Silver Band were the prime and prominent movers in this celebration.

At an early hour yesterday morning the Sodality Silver Band and the Hibernian Society assembled at their hall, at the corner of Main and Adams streets, and marched thence, with appropriate music, to St. Patrick's Church, going down Main street to Beal, out Beal to DeSoto, and thence to the church.

Here High Mass was celebrated. The sermon was by Father Meagher, who is one of the most eloquent young divines in the church at this city.

Father Meagher first returned gratitude to GOD, the Great All-giver, for the year that has passed, and, after a short peroration, proceeded to the history of the great works performed by Irishmen, in the earlier days of Christianity, in introducing the glorious and true faith among all nations. He cited, by name, those who went to Britain, France, Belgium, Aquetania, and other countries, and their heroic deeds—deeds performed by the cross and not the sword. He then passed to St. Patrick's personal history, with which our readers have been made familiar, and mentioned the wonderful fact that his conversion of the whole people of Ireland to the true faith was unattended by a single martyrdom. This is a wonderful and unexampled fact in the history of the propagation of the gospel; for martyrdoms, alas! were more frequent than conversions in those days.

Father Meagher's sermon sank deep into the heart, and will be long remembered by those who heard him. After High Mass the society and band dispersed, and, after attending to their business, reassembled at eight o'clock at their hall and marched to St. Peter's Church, where a most magnificent Vesper service was performed. There were, besides some thousand or twelve hundred persons present, among them at least a hundred of the little orphans from St. Peter's Asylum.

The sermon was by Father Daley, another comparatively young man, but a most eloquent one. Being in the choir, we could not hear his text, but heard most of the sermon. Father Daley took the patriarchs as a model, and spoke of their trials and works—the necessity of humilation and suffering before exaltation and honor, as a mediator, being expressly dwelt upon. The Father took as an example the patriarch Joseph, and spoke of his trials and tribulations and final triumph. He depicted the hollowness and vanity of earthly things, and in glowing and burning words spoke of the marvelous and wonderful ways of Divine Providence. He declared that the success of our glorious faith is the miracle and wonder of our times, being a constant index to the glory and wisdom of God. In conclusion the Father, after a most powerful appeal, exhorted all to a renewed pledge of fealty to the true, one and only faith, the only light through the labyrinths of life. He also made a touching and effective appeal for the benefit of the poor little orphans, who were under the care of the Church.

On the conclusion of the services the assemblage dispersed—some to attend balls and parties, and some to go home and think. We understood that there were several dances given during the evening, but do not personally know of any.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

HOWE'S MUSICAL MONTHLY.—We are in receipt of the first number of this handsomely printed and admirably arranged musical monthly, the contents of which are worth at the least calculation six dollars. We advise our musical readers to send for copies—twenty-five cents each by mail. The number before us contains walzes by Strauss and Labitzky, and songs by the celebrated Henry Russell. Elias Howe, 103 Court street, Boston, publisher.

THE CHILD'S ARITHMETICAL EXAMPLE BOOK.—We are indebted to Mr. Jacob J. Peres, the accomplished author, for a copy of the above work, which we have much pleasure in recommending to teachers as an invaluable aid in imparting rudimentary arithmetical knowledge. It is an entirely new work, unlike in theory or general arrangement any book of the character now before the public, and is worthy as extensive circulation as there are children to educate in Memphis. It is for sale by the Southwestern Publishing Company, and by Barnard & Barnum.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE NEW MEMPHIS.—Fairy Fingers was presented to a splendid audience last night; and while it served to enhance our opinion of Miss Price as an actress, it did not elevate our opinion of the play, or that style of drama, an iota. It is, however, pleasant and entertaining, and for an evening or two does very well. It is repeated this evening for the last time.

GAIETY.—Manager Etley is around again, and all works "as merry as a marriage bell." By the way, all the actors and actresses have tendered Jake a complimentary benefit for Saturday night, and we want to see it a big one. If any body ever deserved a complimentary he does, and the house ought to be filled. He has tried every way in his power to amuse the public, and they should try to help him. Every attraction is offered for the night. Meanwhile the "show proceeds," and is a good one. Go and see it.

THE VARIETIES.—Great is the Can-Can! Great is Broom! Great is Mons. Veaudemont et touts les Mesdemoiselles! The Can-Can is a big thing, and so are the can-canists. A full and crowded house were there last night, and will be to-night. A star bill every night.

DUPREZ & BENEDICT'S MINSTRELS.—This troupe begin their engagement here to-night. They come to us heralded with the highest encomiums of the press. The Nashville (where they were last) papers say that they are the best troupe, decidedly, that has appeared in that city in a long time. See their advertisement.

THE CONCERT.—In another place in the local column will be found the announcement for the concert for St. Lazarus to-night. Everybody ought to go. Read the programme and you will be satisfied of the treat in store. Every prominent amateur in the city will perform.

CONCERT IN PROSPECT.—Rumor says that Henry Farmer, the great flutist, is getting up a concert by subscription, and we understand it is to be the most recherche affair of the season. More anon.

THE COURTS.

CHANCERY COURT.—Wm. M. Smith, Chancellor.—Most of the cases on yesterday's calendar were disposed of. Those set for to-day are:
854 Dickens vs Dickens.
805 Wicks vs Moore.
741 Apperson vs Lundy.
590 McMillan vs Carlish.

Decrees filed yesterday:
Dritt vs Overton Hotel Co—decretal.
Foster vs Maydwell—final.
McBrooks vs Brooks—reference.
Atherton vs Eikerk—reference.

CRIMINAL COURT.—Wm. Hunter, Judge.—The jury in the case of Russer, charged with murder, was completed yesterday, and the trial commenced. Owing to the delay occasioned in empanneling the jury, but little progress was made in the case. Thus far, only three witnesses have been examined. To-day the trial will be resumed.

MUNICIPAL COURT—Geo. W. Waldran, Judge.—The judgments entered in this Court yesterday are as follows:
Lea vs Hughes, judgment for plaintiff, $2070 96.
Briggs & Peterson vs Kimbro, judgment for plaintiff, $300.
Stanton & Moore vs Mitchell, judgment for plaintiff, $334 99.
Joiner vs Hirsch, judgment for plaintiff, $3000.

The trial of the case of Schloephack vs. Heinrich was commenced but not concluded. To-day the above case will be resumed and disposed of in a very short time, after which the following calendar will be called:
1735 McGoughy vs Eakin.
1737 Stanton & Moore vs Padgett.
1739 Fox vs Eakin.
1745 Williamson vs Jones.
1746 Smith vs Jones.
1747 Fentress vs Peres & Son.
1757 Burr & Co vs Winn.
1753 Galena vs Loague.
1757 Hunt vs Dixon.
1758 M & A of Memphis vs Gowin.
1759 Same vs same.
1760 Same vs Ainwright.
1761 Same vs Connell.
1762 Same vs Peeples.

LAW COURT—H. S. Lee, Judge.—The case of Ellen Nolan vs S. B. Beaumont, engaged the attention of the Court the whole day yesterday. The evidence and a portion of the argument was concluded. To-day the case will be again brought up and determined, after which the regular calendar will be resumed, commencing with No. 1030, Trabue vs Cash, adm'r. In the matter of Johnson vs Wicks et al, the Court refused to give the additional charge, or revise the charge already given to the jury, as sought by the defendant's counsel. The jury in the above case came in yesterday and announced that they were still unable to agree, and thereupon, by agreement of counsel, they were discharged.

THE TURF.

A few days ago we published the programme of the races at Mobile and a day or so later at Nashville. At a meeting held at Harry Weatherbee's saloon on Monday night, Mr. Cocke, the former Treasurer, sent in his resignation, which was read and accepted, and Mr. Harry Seessel elected in his place; George Robbins, Esq., was elected to fill the vacancy in the Board; W. H. Passmore, Esq, was elected Pool-seller, and Harry Simpson obtained the booth privilege.

On motion, the time for closing the bids for the saloon privilege was postponed till April 1, and then to be opened in presence of the President, Secretary and two Directors.

The following Turf news we glean from the New York Herald:

The entries for the coming races at Jerome Park are unusually large, and comprise the best blood in the land. The Fordham stakes closed with thirty-three nominations, the Westchester Cup with nineteen, the Jockey Club Handicap with twenty-six, the Hopeful Stakes with twenty-four, the stakes for fillies foaled in 1867 with eight, and the sweepstakes for colts and fillies foaled in 1867 with seven nominations. Besides, the American Jockey Club have appointed the Wednesday prior to the day of the regular meeting—June 4—as a match day, when several will be run, one of which is for $10,000.

The Saratoga Association have closed their entries and the nominations for the different stakes are very full. The sweepstakes for all ages, one and a quarter miles, closed with twenty-five nominations, the Flash stakes with twenty, the Saratoga cup—the great event of the meeting—with twenty-six, and the sequel stakes with eighteen. All the above were the stakes that had to close on the first of March.

The racing prospects throughout the country are bright, and we may reasonably anticipate witnessing the most brilliant season that ever took place. We have more horses than ever before, and the field will be larger than ever known. The ball will open at Jerome Park.

The Fashion Course has been heard from. Its proprietor has awakened from his torpor, and, after rubbing his eyes, has discovered the necessity of keeping pace with the trotting spirit of the age, which was about getting the start of him while he slumbered. He has seen that other managers of trotting parks have issued their programmes, and he has resolved to get out one of his own, which shall not be behind others in liberality and enterprise. It will be out in a day or two, and as the purses to be trotted for will be in advance of those of other tracks in this vicinity, it will give the owners of horses an opportunity of testing their qualities before the other greater events come off.

THE GRAND JURY REPORT.

Reply to the Strictures of Mr. John Loague.

The attacking of that impersonal Grand Jury Report harshly and unkindly by him who keeps a book especially prepared for the annoying Grand Juries; by him who talks flippantly of "our packed jury of friends," who are not able to comprehend his explanation—reminds me of a walk on the Kin-chin-ginga mountain, near the Ganges, a river in which the devoted mother often casts her dear babe, expecting that it will float on to heaven. That mount is a remarkable and romantic region, thirty thousand feet above the level, and many strange things were seen by the way. "There," said my little nephew, "Look, uncle Hiram, there! what a beautiful little animal—so white and spotted all over like jet, crouching in that tuft of lichens; I am going to grab it, uncle." "Hold, my boy; 'tis true it has a very pretty appearance, but keep away, for it has a powerful means of defense. That, my boy, is called the viverra mephitis, and were you to seriously disturb the thing you would have to go home at once and bury your clothes in the ground for a fortnight to get rid of the scent, cent, sent."

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

RAILROAD MATTERS.

CHANGE OF TIME.

Trains leave Nashville on the Northwestern Road, now, at 7 a.m., and 3:10 p.m.

"WHAT WE MAY EXPECT."

Under this heading our friend Tom Neal, of the State Gazette, of Dyersburg, thus discourses: "Col. Mitchell, the able and efficient President of the Mississippi River Railroad, says that the actual resources of the Board of Directors of this road amount to $2,050,000. Shelby county has voted an appropriation of $300,000 to the Mississippi River Railroad. Tipton county has given $200,000, and Lauderdale county $150,000, while Dyer county has persistently refused to give a cent. It's true that Dyer county has already greatly injured herself by this course of action, and we tell the friends of the present route that unless they come forward and take individual stock in the road, to a liberal amount, they may expect that our Commissioners will forever refuse to vote for a county appropriation. If the friends of the road will do their duty, we are satisfied that the County Commissioners will do theirs. By the by, what has become of the committee appointed by President Mitchell to look after the railroad interests in Dyer county? Let us hear from you, gentlemen."

To Members of the Catholic Church.

On the 27th, 28th and 29th of April next, a Bazaar and grand distribution of premiums for the completion of the new college and church, Mount Argus, Dublin, Ireland, will take place at the Rotunda, Dublin. The prizes sum up a total value of fifteen thousand dollars, and embrace all sorts of articles, including Limerick lace shawls, mantel ornaments, jewelry, watches and painting. Among the latter is the celebrated work of Henry McManus, Esq., R. H. A., entitled, "The Introduction of Christianity into Ireland." Tickets are to be had at the APPEAL office, only 25 cents each. We will take and send on orders to any amount for persons desirous of helping in this good work.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

How Hostetter's Bitters Cure Dyspepsia—THE WHOLE STORY IN A NUTSHELL.—The office of the stomach is to convert the food into a cream-like semi-fluid, called CHYME. This is effected partly by the action of a solvent, called the gastric juice, which exudes from the coating of the stomach, and partly by a mechanical movement of that organ, which CHURNS, as it were, the dissolving aliment. The CHYME passes from the stomach into the duodenum, or entrance to the bowels, where it is subjected to the action of the bile, and the nutritious portion of it converted into a fluid called CHYLE, which eventually become blood. Now, it is evident, that if the great solvent, the gastric juice, is not produced in sufficient quantity, or if the mechanical action of the stomach is not sufficiently brisk, the first process of digestion will be but imperfectly performed. It is also clear that if the liver, which plays such an important part in changing the nourishing portion of the chyme into the material of the blood, is congested, or in any unnatural condition, the second process will not be thoroughly accomplished. The result of the two failures is dyspepsia, complicated with biliousness.

The mode in which HOSTETTER'S BITTERS operate in such cases is this: They invigorate the cellular membrane of the stomach, which evolves the gastric juice, thereby insuring an ample sufficiency of the fluid to completely dissolve the food. They also act upon the nerves of the stomach, causing an acceleration of the mechanical movement necessary to reduce the food to a homogeneous mass. They also act specifically upon the liver, strengthening it, and so enabling it to produce an ample and regular supply of bile, for the purpose of converting the nutritious particles of the CHYME into CHYLE, and promote the passage through the bowels of the useless debris.

In this way HOSTETTER'S BITTERS cure dyspepsia and liver complaint. The explanation is plain, simple, philosophical and TRUE.

FINANCE.

The perversity of cotton, which won't move, though ever so much anxiety is felt for it to do so, causes a very dull money market. Currency is easy enough to be sure, but it is turning over slowly, and not at all in a satisfactory manner to our banks. Our cotton factors are carrying largely, and their bank accounts, in a number of cases, are overdrawn in order to save their country friends, and give them advantage of any rise in prices. It was thought that the stagnation in cotton would be but temporary at the outset, but it has dragged along for weeks, and still shows no sign of recuperation. In the face of this long season of inactivity, it must be confessed that our factors are men of nerve and their faith in the staple not easily shaken.

Exchange is some easier, but none of our banks can be said to have a liberal supply, though one or two have not only been able to meet all the demands of their customers, but have accommodated their neighbors to a greater or less extent at par to $1 per $1000 premium. The rates to outsiders are steady at ¼ off buying, and ¼ premium selling.

Bonds and Stocks are in demand, but none are presented for sale except in a small way, and diligent inquiry for days sometimes fails to unearth a single transaction.

City Scrip is scarce. Dealers would buy at 75@76c. Selling at 78@80c. Balances 74@75c buying. Selling at 77@78c.

County Warrants are dull. Brokers would buy at 70c, but none can be had at that figure. Selling at 75c, in a small way.

Police Scrip is firm at 96c buying. Selling at 98c.

Gold opened in New York at 131⅞, went up to 132, and closed at 131¼. Sterling Exchange was unsettled and dull at 108¾ for sixty day bills. Gold carrying at 2 to 6 per cent. Money stringent on call at 7 per cent.

Tennessee Bonds were lower. Sales of old were reported at 66c. New 65½c.

Governments opened dull, with a light demand, and closed dull but steady.

The Liverpool market at the opening to-day was quiet, with Uplands 12@12⅛d; Orleans 12¼@12⅜d. It was quiet and unchanged at noon, and at the close was quiet, with quotations nominally unchanged. Uplands, 12@12⅛d; Orleans 12¼@12⅜d. Sales 8000 bales.

At the opening in New York, the market was dull and prices nominal. Low Middlings 27¾@27½c; Uplands 28¼@28½c; Good Middlings 29½@29⅞c. At 11:55 the demand was fair and prices steady, and at 1:30 p. m. the demand was fair and prices firm. Low Middlings 27½c; Uplands 28½c; Good Middlings 29½c. There was no change at 2 p. m., nor up to the close.

In our report yesterday, we stated that some 500 bales were sold late on Monday for the Liverpool market, on private terms. Since then we learn that there was very little less than 1500 bales taken that evening for the same market, but by the request of buyers the transactions were not reported. To-day the same feeling seemed to pervade a few buyers, and more cotton changed hands on "private terms" than for many weeks back. The sales to-day, though mostly composed of small tables, will aggregate handsomely, and holders, before the close, had materially stiffened up in their views, though perhaps not asking higher rates. The demand is for fine grades. Prices continue somewhat irregular and accurate quotations are hard to give.

TRADE.

Business to-day was quiet. Very few people from the country were in town, and our "heavy streets" were comparatively dull. The genial sunshine, however, brought out the ladies, and our retail houses seemed to do a good business. Spring stocks are coming in daily, and the show windows of Main and other streets present varied attractions in the way of dress goods, some of which are new in texture as well as name to us. Probably the following, from the Chicago Tribune of a late date, will throw some light upon the wheat and flour supply of the country. A correspondent writing to that paper upon the subject, says: "Presuming you are aware of the existence of bulls and bears in our wheat market, and being an animal of the latter species since wheat was $1 50 per bushel, I give you an item which does not hurt my theory, to say the least. The St. Louis Democrat says: '650,530 bushels of wheat and 171,412 barrels of flour have arrived here since the first of last January. During same time last year 84,506 bushels of wheat and 69,449 barrels of flour arrived. Let us count the flour as wheat and we have the following showing: Received, since January 1, 1869, 1,107,590 bushels; In 1868, 347,245 bushels; difference in favor of this year, 675,839 bushels.' The above is 'a straw,' but when we compare the receipts of breadstuffs in Milwaukee and here with those in same time last year, the straws make a whole sheaf. Let us instance the receipts of to-day, and in round numbers call a barrel of flour five bushels of wheat, what are our receipts for the 11th of March? Simply 86,000 bushels of wheat. Well, let us examine the receipts of flour from January 1st to March 6th, as taken from the Commercial Report and Market Review: 517,636 barrels of flour, or 229,469 over the receipts of last year, in the same time. Of wheat, over last year, 905,490 bushels, and, turning flour into wheat, we have received 2,102,835 bushels of wheat at the port of Chicago over what we received during the same period of 1868 How Milwaukee compares I have not the means of showing. Some time ago I called the attention of a friendly 'bull' to the flour matter, and he consoled himself with the reflection, 'Yes, they're using up a vast amount of wheat,' while a vast amount of wheat also comes in with the flour. The above figures can be compared with the Market Review of this date for correction, and I will not trouble you further to-day.' R."

There is an active demand for choice eating APPLES, and stock light. Selling as to quality at 6 to $8 per bbl.

The stock of BUTTER is equal to the demand. Choice firm at 40c; common to good dull at 25 to 35c.

BEANS are in light supply and prices steady at 2 to $3 per bushel for mixed, 3 25 to $3 50 for navy.

The PROVISION market is very quiet. The demand for meats of all kinds is only in a small way. Large lots could not be sold except at up country prices. Mess Pork 33 to $33 50. Prime Mess 29 to $30. Extra Prime Pork 28 to $29. Rumps 27 to $28. Jowls 23 to $24. Clear bulk Sides 16¾ to 17c. Clear Rib 16 to 16½c. Rib Sides 15½ to 16c. Shoulders 13 to 13½c. Bacon, clear Sides 18 to 18½c. Shoulders 14½ to 15c. Plain Hams 17c. S. C. plain 19 to 20c. Lard dull; tierces 19½ to 20c, kegs 20½ to 21c. A lot of Bulk Shoulders were offered at 13c, and Clear Sides at 16½c, with no buyers.

We have no change to note in CHEESE. The stock is light and prices firm. Factory 23 to 24c. E. D. 23 to 23½c. W. R. 22 to 23c.

COFFEE does not seem to vary. The stock is very good and all grades are firm. We quote Ordinary 19 to 20c; Fair, 20 to 21c; Good, 22 to 23c; Prime, 24 to 25c; Choice, 26½ to 28c.

The only notable change in FEED is an advance in CORN. Lots on levee would sell at 77@78c, with orders on hand in excess of the supply. OATS are dull at 73 to 75c. BRAN is steady at $25. HAY 26 50 to $27.

The demand for CORNMEAL is fair; Selling at 3 50 to $3 75 from mills; $3 75 from store.

The demand is active for all kinds of DRIED FRUITS. Dried Apples 9 to 12c; Peaches 11 to 14c.

EGGS are in good demand, and scarce at 23 to 25c per dozen.

We have no change to note in the FLOUR market. There is but a light retail demand. We quote Superfine 6 to $7; X, 7 50 to $8; XX, 8 50 to $9; XXX and Fancy brands, 9 50 to $12.

GRASS SEEDS are in demand. Clover is scarce at $11 per bushel. Blue Grass $3 25. Timothy $3 25. Orchard Grass $2 25. Herds $2. Millet $3. Lucerne and White Clover 75c per lb.

The HIDE market is active and prices firm. Green 9 to 9½c; Salt 10 to 11c; Dry Salt, 20c; Dry Flint, 22c; Deer Skins, green, 15 to 16c; dry, 33 to 35c.

In IRON TIES we have no change to note. Selling at 6 to 7½c as to style.

Cape and Alabama LIME held at 2 to $2 25 per barrel. Utica 1 75 to $2. Louisville Cement 2 75 to $3.

SUGARS are steady and market well supplied, with fair demand. We quote Fair 14½c; Prime, 15½ to 16c; Choice, 16 to 17c; Yellow Clarified, 17 to 18c; White Clarified, 18 to 19c. MOLASSES is also dull; Common, 70 to 75c; Choice, 80 to 90c.

In PRODUCE we have continued weakness to note. Peach Blow Potatoes are dull at 2 75 to $3; Russets $3; Pink Eyes 3 50 to $4; London Lady's 3 50 to $4; Early Goodrich's $4 50.

There is an active demand for POULTRY and stock light. Turkeys 20 to $21. Geese 8 to $9. Ducks 5 to $6. Chickens 6 00 to $6 50.

The stock of SALT is large and prices steady. Large Dairy, in 7 bushel barrels, $4 50. Small Dairy, in 5 bushel barrels, $3 50. Large Common, in 7 bushel barrels, 3 30 to $3 50. Small Common, in 5 bushel barrels, 2 50 to $2 75. These are quotations in lots from first hands.

The LIVE STOCK market is only moderately active. First-class Western Beef Cattle, from 7 to 7½c gross; second class, 5 to 6c gross; third class, 3 to 4c gross; common, very full supply at 2 to 3c gross. Texas Cattle, but few on market at 30 to $40 per head. Work Oxen in fair demand at at 50 to $125 per yoke. Milk Cows and Calves, 30 to $75. Hogs are dull at 8 to 9c gross. Sheep, a scant supply on the market, and quotably firm at 4 to $8 per head. Horses and Mares, according to quality, 75 to $250 per head. Mules in moderate demand at from 130 to $250 per head, as to the grade.

The TOBACCO market is fairly active. All low grades are in demand and prices are firm.

There is no change in WHISKY. The demand is steady and prices generally firm. Highwines 92 to 95c.

RIVER MATTERS.

WEATHER AND RIVERS.

GAS WORKS, March 17, 1869.

River rose in past 24 hours 12 inches. Below high water mark 14 feet 3 inches.

CHAS. GOODWIN.

It was clear and pleasant yesterday. The Arkansas is declining, but has plenty of water from the mouth to Fort Smith. White river is bank full, and was on a stand on Tuesday, but is probably declining slowly by this time. All its tributaries are high. The latest news from the Ohio and Upper Mississippi will be found in our telegraphic columns.

In Port.

Steamers Argosy, Coosa, T. H. Allen, Sam J. Hale, Guidon and G. W. Cheek.

MISCELLANEOUS.

We had a very respectable port list yesterday for mid-week, and affairs upon the levee looked quite lively.

The Silver Moon got away for Cincinnati with 500 bales of cotton.

It is still undecided when the Coosa will get away, but she will take the first cotton that offers.

The P. W. Strader passed up for Louisville.

We are always proud to chronicle the success of our river men, and particularly so when we know that those who achieve it are worthy. To-day we announce with pleasure the fact that our well known fellow-townsmen Capt. Ashford, and our popular and handsome young friend Milt Harry, have purchased one-half of the light draft, sound and handsome steamer Mollie Hambleton, and will put her in the Memphis and White river trade as a regular Thursday packet in place of the Argosy, now in the trade under the command of the above named gentlemen. The Hambleton is a first rate sidewheel packet. She has just come off the ways at Cairo and will be thoroughly repainted by Thursday next, when she will wheel into line and will run regularly throughout the season as an independent packet, going through to Augusta and Jacksonport. We congratulate the people along White river upon this acquisition to their trade and we know that they will appreciate the enterprise shown by Capt. Ashford and Milt Harry. By the opening of the next cotton season they will have a larger and a finer steamer—one exactly suited to the wants of the trade during the busy season, as this one is for the season now upon us. We wish Capt. Ashford and our talented young friend Harry all success.

The Argosy makes her last trip in the White river trade to-day. She leaves at 5 p.m., and makes all connections along the river to Augusta. Capt. Wm. Ashford is master and Milt Harry is the efficient and popular chief clerk. He is assisted by John Smither.

To-day Capt. J. B. Hall will back out his fine steamer Norman for Cairo and Evansville. She is a regular local packet. O. Hewett is secretary.

The elegant U. S. mail packet Thomas H. Allen, Capt. Reese Pritchard, will back out to-day for Pine Bluff and Little Rock, making all way landings and connecting closely and surely with the Fort Smith packets. Mr. C. T. Walker has her office in charge, and is a clever officer.

The Guidon came in yesterday with an excellent trip from Pine Bluff, and will back out for that point and all way landings on the Arkansas to-day at 5 p.m. She is an excellent passenger packet, and is in careful hands. Clay Rice is master, and Garrett Huls, assisted by the veteran Sam Wood, are associated in the office.

The Natoma is the regular Friar's Point packet for to-morrow. Jim Lee is master.

The gay little steamer, Ben. Campbell, Capt. Weller leaves to-day for Osceola and the bends. She is prompt and reliable. Jim Hall is purser.

The handsome Geo. W. Cheek, Capt. Malone, also leaves to-day for Osceola and all way landings, at 5 p.m. Frank Gonterman is treasurer.

The Liberty, Capt. Conley, leaves on Saturday next for all points on White river. She is the United States mail packet.

The Belle St. Louis, always a popular steamer, one of the queens of the packet company, and the pride of Alex. Ziegler, her master, will back out to-day for Cairo and St. Louis, making close connection with the trains North and East. Baskette is her clerk.

The Mary E. Forsyth, Capt. David Haney, will pass down for Vicksburg today. She leaves the Wharfboat at 5 p. m., and makes all way landings in the bends below. White and Briggs are her clerks, and will do to tie to for a journey long or short.

Capt. Frank Hicks, of the Magenta, and Capt. Nat. Green, of the Mississippi, are having a lively time over the bell-rope prize offered by W. M. Williams, of Vicksburg, Miss., to the boat carrying the largest trip of cotton into the port of New Orleans. Hicks has forwarded a certificate from his discharging clerk, stating that the Magenta had the largest number of bales, without mentioning the number, however, while the Mississippi's books show that she delivered 4113 bales on the wharf. From the present aspect of affairs, it would seem almost impossible to decide which boat is justly entitled to the prize, and it is more than likely that a little swearing will have to be resorted to.

The Mississippi was due last night from below.

The Nick Longworth is on her way out of the Ohio.

The Indiana is due to-morrow from above.

The new steamer contracted for by the Louisville and Cincinnati Mail Company is to have 30 rooms on a side. She is to be 260 feet long, 37 feet beam, and 6 feet depth of hold. Engines 21 inch cylinders, 8 feet stroke; 4 boilers, 28 feet long, 38 inches in diameter, 2 flues in all. Buckets 11 feet.

The Talisman broke her shaft in the Cumberland, near Clarksville, the other day, and dropped her wheel everboard.

The Cumberland is rising, with 8 feet on Harpeth shoals.

BUTTER.

THE

ECONOMY BUTTER CO

Ask the attention of all interested in the reduction of the extravagant cost of Butter, to their practical and economical system of making pure prime Butter by aid of the

EXTRACT OF BUTTER PLANT.

A brief allusion to the origin of this important discovery may not prove uninteresting. Among the authenticated records of the renowned Captain Cook's voyage around the world, is found the statement, that while sojourning for a short time on the Brazilian Coast of South America, he observed the natives using, in the preparation of their food, a peculiar oil, which, upon examination, he found to possess the appearance, taste and flavor of Butter; upon further inquiry, however, he ascertained that it was simply a substance that the natives distilled in a crude and imperfect manner from a rich and luxuriant plant that grew spontaneously and abundantly in that warm tropical country. A few years ago an eminent French chemist, while on a professional visit to the tropics, made numerous experiments with this remarkable production of nature, and succeeded in extracting a concentrated essence of the plant. The formula for its preparation, and the Sole Right for the sale in this country are the exclusive property of this company, by whom it was purchased from the original discoverer. We claim for this remarkable, yet simple and perfectly harmless preparation—

1st. That by its use a net gain of from 50 to 200 per cent. is made in the manufacture of Butter.

2d. That Butter, which from age or whatever cause, may be strong, rancid, streaked or coarse-grained, and comparatively useless for general use, by the aid of this Extract is restored to its original freshness and sweetness, fine grain and even color.

3d. By the use of this Extract, one pound of delicious, fresh Butter is actually made from one pint of milk.

4th. That a pure and excellent table Butter can be made, at a cost of from 15 to 20 cents per pound. The chief expense wherein being Butter, which is the essential base.

5th. That Butter manufactured by the aid of this Extract is equal in every respect to the best Butter made by the ordinary method.

6th. The Extract, after thorough analysis, by able chemists, is pronounced perfectly free from any deleterious substance, the ingredients being purely of a vegetable nature.

7th. In proof of the foregoing assertions, the factory of this company is making one ton of Butter per day, which meets with ready sale in the New York market, and is consumed from the tables of the first hotels, restaurants and private families in this city and elsewhere.

A sample package of the EXTRACT (sufficient to make fifty pounds of Butter), with full directions for use, will be sent to any address on the receipt of $1.

CAUTION.—As all articles of real merit are subject to spurious imitations, we would specially caution the public against counterfeits and worthless imitations, advertised as powders, compounds, etc., as the Extract of the Butter Plant is prepared and sold only by

CHANCERY SALE.

CHANCERY SALE

ON WEDNESDAY, MARCH 24, 1869. CHANCERY COURT OF MEMPHIS.
No. 3195—Harriet J. Royster, adm'x., vs. S. S. Royster et al.

BY virtue of an interlocutory decree in this cause, I will sell, at public auction, to the highest bidder, in front of the auction house of Royster, Trezevant & Co., in the city of Memphis, Tennessee,

On Wednesday, March 24, 1869,

Within legal hours, the undivided one-half interest of J. W. Royster, dec'd, in and to the following described real estate, to-wit, lying, being, and situated in the county of Shelby and State of Tennessee, and bounded as follows:

1st. One tract, situated on an island in the Mississippi river, in range 9, section 4. Beginning at a small cotton wood marked W. M., William McKee's southeast corner of his 200 acres occupant on the bank of chute of said island; thence down the chute with its meander, south 9½°, west 4 chains and 10 links, south 36½°, west 5 chains, south 10½°, west 13 chains, south 20°, west 6 chains and 50 links, south 24½°, west 10 chains, south 4 chains and 80 links, south 4°, west 3 chains and 50 links, south 7°, west 14 chains and 50 links, south 5½°, east 14 chains and 50 links, south 13°, east 12 chains and 50 links; thence south 22°, east 11 chains and 50 links to a small elm marked BS, the northeast corner of Byrd Spurlock's occupant claim; thence west 73 chains and 50 links to an ash marked R and B; thence north 90 chains to a stake and pointers; thence east 80 chains to the beginning, containing 640 acres.

2d. A tract lying in district 11, range 8, and section 7, on Island No. 35 in the Mississippi river. Beginning at the southwest corner of entry No. 4, for 285 acres in the name of C. J. Love, at an ash and cotton wood on the west chute; thence down said chute 41°, east 71 poles to an ash, the upper northwest corner of Love's 1000 acre entry No. 818; thence east with his line 896 poles to a privet and ash pointers on the west line of T. Person's 640 acre entry; thence north with his line 210 poles to a stake and backberry; thence west 310 poles to a stake and cottonwood on the east line of entry No. 6, for 285 acres; thence south 147 poles to an elm, its southeast corner; thence west 128 poles to the beginning, containing 474 acres.

3d. A tract situated in fractional range 9, and fractional section 4, on an Island in the Mississippi river, known as Island No. 40. Beginning at a persimmon marked B.
